Summary of reasons
for classification:

The Blu-ray disc entitled Underworld Extended Edition is classified as: Objectionable except if the availability of the publication is restricted to persons who have attained the age of 16 years.

The disc contains a feature which is said to be the extended version of a 35mm film (Underworld) previously examined and classified by the Office of Film and Literature Classification. The film version (OFLC No. 301681) was classified as "Objectionable except if the availability of the publication is restricted to persons who have attained the age of 16 years", with the descriptive note "Contains horror scenes. Contains violence". This decision was registered on 9 October 2003. The DVD version of the feature is approximately 11 minutes longer than the film version. Any difference in the main feature is difficult to locate and the difference in time can at least in part be explained by the difference in medium.

The additional components include documentaries about the making of the feature and the background of the feature, a feature commentary track and several notices. These components do not provide grounds to alter the classification given to the original publication.
